Location

Description

This grand estate is located at the highest point on a mountain and offers a 180 degree panoramic view of the sea, the landscape and the island of Formentera. One of the best views on the whole island.

The stone built villa captivates with its extraordinary and historical art. There are a few 18th century wardrobes from the reign of Philip V - the first Bourbon king in Spain.

A chest collection containing a piece listed in the Patrimonio Artístico Nacional (Spanish Artistic Heritage). An impressive collection of mirrors, an artistic journey from the 16th to the 19th century. A splendid antique wooden library imitates the choir stands of the Trastámara dynasty. And a collection of Coptic crosses.

On the ground floor there is a large living room illuminated by a 13th century wooden ceiling paneled with Mudéjar, a large library with paintings by great artists, a kitchen where every detail has been worked, a bathroom and a relaxing fountain old pieces that connect the living room and the kitchen. On the first floor there is the master bedroom with bathroom and sea view. We would like to mention the bathroom with high glass walls so that you can enjoy a wonderful sea view from the whirlpool. In this room you will find the jewel of the house, a collection of Coptic crosses of great historical value.
